

CIACCI PICCOLOMINI D'ARAGONA

PRESALE

385 IGT TOSCANA ROSSO is an exciting new wine born from the collaboration and friendship of two important wine families, Bianchini of Ciacci Piccolomini d'Aragona in Montalcino and Meregalli of international distribution group Gruppo Meregalli. The wine combines the know-how of both families, bringing together two of the most important wine regions, Montalcino with Ciacci Piccolomini d'Aragona and Maremma with Tenuta Fertuna (owned by Gruppo Meregalli).

THE NAME

385 refers to the position of the production cellar, the Ciacci Piccolomini d'Aragona winery (once a 17th century Episcopal palace) in Castelnuovo dell'Abate (Montalcino), located precisely 385 meters above sea level. The two families have had a great understanding on both personal and commercial levels for years, and with the inclusion of the new generations, the desire to create a new project came about – a “four-handed” wine that would further consolidate the relationship, combining mutual experience and skills, and offer the market something new while paying highest regard to history and tradition.

THE WINE

385 IGT Toscana Rosso is a wine of quality, with fresh and fragrant expressions of rich, ripe fruit, characteristic of wines that appeal to today's young wine lovers. Though the wine's roots run deep in the region's history and the blend is based on Tuscany's most representative grape, Sangiovese, 385 is given a more “modern” cut with the addition of Merlot, Ciliegiolo and Syrah. This melding of two important wine regions combined with the experience and expertise of internationally renowned oenologist Maurizio Castelli and technical managers Alex Bianchini (Ciacci Piccolomini) and Paolo Rivella (Tenuta Fertuna), results in a wine that can bear witness to its origins, expressing great structure and character, without being dependent on the stereotypes of excessive alcohol and concentration often attributed to Tuscan wines.*
